I love this book ... I am reading all four to my son and will more than likely buy them for him and for any and all upcoming baby shower gifts I need to buy! Love the illustrations and the culture added to each book!

Alice says

A fun little board book, giving the basics of New York! Over all I like this series...it is simple and fun and perfect for the toddler crowd!

Sara (SJWonderlandz) says

This baby board book introduces your little one to a world cup of colors. There are many color primer books on the market, but this offers a unique presentation as it uses NYC as it's theme and background.

Marie says

I think the blue was more of a green in my eyes!

Such a fantastic journey through the Big City, highlighting each major landmark the Big Apple has to offer. I loved every gorgeous illustration and how each page featured a different, brilliant color.

As a mom I was disappointed. But we'll see if the star rating changes when he becomes old enough to express an opinion. I'll admit, the art is nice and bright and colorful, and pretty cute pictures of New York. But for instance next to this beautiful green artwork of the Statue of Liberty, it just says "GREEN Statue of Liberty". Blah.

Also I wasn't super impressed by their choice of things to represent the colors. Sure, green statue of liberty, yellow taxis, orange leaves in Central Park in the fall. But New Yorkers dressed in black? Really? Blue lights in Times Square? Red lights on the Empire State Building? Really, is that a thing? When I think of the Empire State Building, I don't think "oh yeah, that's where those RED lights are!!" Sooo I think they were stretching and probably could have come up with better things...

12/28/16 - a year later, he pulled this one off the shelf for bedtime. He's still too young for colors, but he did recognize "car" and "leaf" and the dog in Central Park. He flipped back and forth through the pictures, I think he liked the monochrome.

Cute book to learn colors and the major attractions in the Big Apple. Great board book for little hands. Bright colors with whimsical pictures. I did think the blue was almost a greenish teal color.

2.5 stars. I thought the blue was more of a teal color for that page. My mom agreed. Great concept, cute book but just ok.

Chinook says

It's fun to teach the colours with illustrations I find interesting.
