A Book of Life la Vita di Serena J. Faraz

Serena's story begins in post-World War II Italy, where she falls in love with her brother's wartime commander and close friend, Lorenzo. He is a confident young man with big dreams, and she is a beautiful and ambitious young woman. Lorenzo and Serena's brother form a real estate development and investment company, and their hard work earns them much wealth and power. Serena and her family's journey leads them from picturesque Italy to beautiful California, where they meet many of life's joys and tragedies. Love, compassion, betrayal, forgiveness, and the endless surprises and challenges of life weave together to form the fabric of this enterprising family's story.

But at the heart of it all is Serena, as she struggles with the love of her life and the Catholic faith she so dutifully maintains. Serena's story explores the hardest of life's questions and conundrums as she and her family navigates through life.
