Michelle Craft-titze says

Short story about how Ed meets Tanya and how they get along despite their races being mortal enemy's this explained more to me after reading it then in his novel...It just said they had met on a mission and seemed to get along well

Jennavier says

A trailer park princess who just happens to be a literal elven princess? There is no possible way not to die laughing. So go read it and enjoy great action, funny characters, and interesting magic.

Richard says

The story of what takes place before Monster Hunter Legion, in which Tanya wants to join MHI. Enjoyable. Probably only recommended for fans though.

MikeG says

Oh my! This is such a fun story. A young elf princess wants more than life in the trailer park. And she gets it by running away to be a Monster Hunter. And then there is the Orc swordsman that she meets on the adventure.

JM says

Pretty good send-up of that Twilight book, but set in the Monster Hunter International universe. Made me chuckle. If you like Correia, you know what to expect.

Nashoa says

It was a cute and funny short story. Perfect for the series and a great intro to the characters.

Heather says

I love trailer park elves!

Melindeeloo says

This cute little Ed and Tanya story was a fun little fill in for MHI fans.

Pat Michaels says

How can you go wrong with a story with Edward the sword master from MHI.

Y says

True to Larry Correia style

Action-packed, funny and adds more flavor to the already engrossing world of monster hunter international

Jessica says

I love it when I get a small look into the background of my favorite books. This short story is fun and light, and gives MHI fans a little background on Edward and a new member Tanya.

Bronislava Sencakova says

Milujem tieto Correiove monster-saga-legrácky. Po Halloweene druhý krátke útvark v rýchlym slede na zdvihnutie nálady :)

Goodreads výzva 2017:

Trevor Okazaki says

Once upon a time, in the state of Mississippi, there dwelt an elf princess. The princess lived in the Enchanted Forest with her mother, the queen of the elves, in a ninety-foot long aluminum double-wide trailer.

That's how this short story starts. For those familiar with the series it's a fun little view into a rarely seen character.

Tyler says

I liked it. Read it before the last book.

Cathy says

Well that explains a few things from book four. Cute.
