I love these kinds of books that the author puts his heart into the book.

:Giveaway winner:

An absolute MUST read for anyone even remotely considering fostering or adopting; Loved how honest Kenneth was with everything that he and Danielle went thru; gives a great insight into the process as well as into what you need to be prepared for in your heart and mind both before and during the process; I truly feel every church leader should make this mandatory reading for their staffs; found myself falling in love with "Chandler" and rooting for a "win" :)

Informative, highly practical, and authentic in sharing both the ups and downs through the process of fostering and adopting a son, Adopting the Father's Heart is an invaluable resource and source of encouragement. While it is obvious that those who are navigating the fostering/adopting system (or considering it) will benefit from this book, the impact is much broader. Anyone who knows a fostering family will have a new understanding of ways to come alongside that family to provide support and encouragement in tangible ways. Adopting the Father's Heart is as much a spiritual journey as a familial one. Camp's open and, at times, gut-wrenchingly honest testimony of his journey will challenge readers to evaluate their own hearts and attitudes toward the least of these. Highly recommended!
