The First Dragon

The Great Abandonment has begun. Panic has seized the Fallen Isles, where no one knows which god will rise next. Mira Minkoba believes her dreams hold the secret to bringing an end to the destruction, but in order to save her people, she'll have to find a legendary treasure: the bones of the first dragon.

The Last Hope

Mira's desperate search leads the Hopebearer and her friends on a dangerous journey into the heart of enemy territory: the Algotti Empire itself. The empress is more than willing to help—for an impossible price. And as tensions escalate beneath the shadows of the risen gods, Mira grapples with a terrifying question: What will she have to sacrifice to preserve what she loves?

The explosive finale to Jodi Meadows's Fallen Isles trilogy is ablaze with sizzling romance and fiery magic as Mira's fight to save dragons from extinction evolves into a mission to save her world from annihilation.

Jodi Meadows says

Book is all turned in! Just waiting for copyedits and pass pages now!

I sobbed when I first wrote the ending. I thought I'd be okay when I worked on it for revisions. I was not okay. I cried every single time.
