Submission

In a time such as now when women are still seeking equal pay, so many stories of women placed in BDSM submissive roles have risen in the erotic genre. I find them titillating but not compelling enough to want to explore myself; and yet, this story I can really appreciate. A strong woman of strong, almost ferocious character, finds herself in the grip of lust for 3 seemingly overpowering Aurelians. Ms. Cain handles a woman's need for equality within sexuality deftly and forthrightly. At no time did I feel that the heroine was mistreated or coerced to participate in any sexual situation that she hadn't fully consented to. She made her own decisions, and her grew to not only lust for her but love her as well. The story was a joy to read. It had elements of all genres I adore: erotic, romance, science fiction, and thriller. Ms. Cain combined all 4 in a sweeping saga of a story.

Another fantastic alien romance by Corin Cain, this is the 2nd book of Corin's that I have read and I will definitely be reading more from this author. Sandra has been put in charge of a task force to find the planet killer Ravnok, she has 3 Aurlians joining her ranks Adrihan, Ryder and Xzavic. These men are not happy about having a woman being in command of them after all they treat women like their play things but when they look at Sandra they all have hunger in their eyes. There's action, adventure, danger, passion some hot sexy scenes and so much more to keep you entertained and turning the pages. a fantastic story and I highly recommend this book it's definitely well worth the read.

Didn't Like How It Ended

I didn't like how the story ended. There was no epilogue like in the other stories in this series. Does Sandra finally get pregnant after fully giving into submission? Does the rest of her triad finally tell her they love her? Do they marry? Is Sandra able to juggle having children and her job?

To me the story ended too soon and I was left hanging. The other stories in this series bring in the characters from the other books. I would like to know more about Sandra and her triads future.

Non-stop action, with unexpected twists! Please read series in order - Highly Recommend!

For adults only (18+ years) Contains subject matter that may be a trigger, or offensive to some, including: adult language throughout, steamy detailed adult intimate scenes (MF, MFM, MFMM, spanking, bondage, etc.) and violence (fighting, murder, kidnapping, etc.). If any of these are a trigger, or offensive to you, then this may not be the story or series for you.

Do not read this review if you have not read the first two books of the series as it may provide spoilers from one or both of those stories.

I have been waiting on this story, and it did not disappoint. It has a great plot, surprising and unexpected twists, loaded with lots of action and sets up some additional story lines for the future. This one also has a different take on the fated mate bond between Aurelians and female humans, which I quite enjoyed, although Sandra had a distorted view of the previous two female heriones and what the bond did or did not influence. Hopefully there will be another story very soon!

Okay ... last chance to stop before there may be spoilers from the previous 2 stories.

Here is a high level overview of how the story begins:

Sandra Bellinks is an Inspector with the Human Alliance; the youngest to ever achieve this position. She is very driven by her desire to wipe out the cartels and working her way up to be the Police Commissioner, which is her ultimate goal. She was enjoying her day off with 1 of the infantrymen when she received an alert that required her to report right away, much to his chagrin.

Sandra left immediately and reported to her superior and mentor, John Marrock. On her way she was able to read about Rav'nok eradicating another planet, Caladin the water planet, that resulted in the loss of 8B people. John assigned Sandra as their representative along with the other teams from the various areas under the Human Alliance. She can choose her own team, but must accept an Aurelian triad. She is not happy about their inclusion because they are known for their dominance over human females in their harems. Therefore, Sandra wants them to assign her new agents, 1 step above cadets, as to hopefully minimize their interference and trying to take over the investigation. She exited John's office and called out to 5 people she wanted on the case, excluding Grant based upon their previous history.

Adrihan and Ryder were sparring when they felt true agony and grief through their triad bond. They rushed to Xzavic and held him against the wall while he gained some control over his emotions. When they completed their 100 years of service, Xzavic was the only one to take a female, Rebecca. They were not fated mates, but he loved her above all others, and swore he would have no others. She had traveled to Caladin to visit family and perished when Rav'nok destroyed the planet.

Then they are called to their commander's office, which is confusing to them since they are new officers, just 1 step above cadets. When they arrive the tension begins to build when they find Emperor Reagan, Queen Jasmine, and the rest of their triad, as well as Ella and her triad. Ella was the human that set Rav'nok free accidentally when she freed her friend. This is too much for Xzavic, Adrihan and Ryder due to what just happened, but only Xzavic loses it and they have to remove him from the office. They are being placed on the Rav'nok investigation, which is a confusing and unexpected opportunity, but they are given clear instructions to not try and take over the investigation, which they know will be hard for their leaders to enforce once they leave.

Sandra drops off her team at their new offices and gives them clear instructions on what she needs and when. She is going to get Rav'nok and not let the Aurelians take over the investigation. Then she feels their ship landing and goes to meet them. It is important to start off as she meant to continue. They arrive on a reaver and she realizes exactly how large they are when they exit. Unfortunately they are exactly her type but she is still surprised at the feelings she has when looking Adrihan and the others. After some interesting introductions, Sandra tells them she is going to see what if any clues can be discovered at Caladin and asks them if they want to come.

They take the reaver due to its size. Sandra is a little concerned about being isolated with Aurelians after hearing about how they can be lost in a mating frenzy, but things stay somewhat professional. No matter how aroused she becomes, Sandra is not crossing the line of being with a subordinate. Then they phase-shift and arrive at what is basically an asteroid field. Sandra spots something that lets them determine where Rav'nok is potentially stationed. Then they are hit by an orb-beam. The ship is damaged and they are either going to die from lack of oxygen in deep space, or phase-shift without knowing where they would end up and get lucky enough to find a place to crash land.

I am going to stop there ... enjoy!

I also got the book with KU.

Great world building descriptions, some battles, and a good story had me absorbed in this Adult Alpha Alien Romance with BDSM elements.

This story would have been great without the angst of the bond. It didn't feel natural and for such an all consuming thing it needed to come more naturally. In previous books the submissiveness the bond causes has tended to overtake all else about the heroines which killed the books for me. While in this one the author tries to walk it back some and show the heroines from previous books having a life outside of giving birth it doesn't resonate or feel natural. I've read other books that work well and involve women having lives that are "controlled" by their men but contain that submission more to the home or have that complete submission as already being a part of their personality. This series just can't seem to strike a balance. It wants to take strong willed and alpha type women and make them happily and totally submissive with no gradual build up of finding a new aspect of their personality. Maybe if these were dark romances with non consent or dubious consent that would be okay but trying to keep them as just Ds doesn't work.

I decided to review an ARC of this book.

This is the first story that I have read by this author and I can't wait to read more. I was swept into the story and couldn't put it down.

Sandra has been given the task of finding Rav'nok, the planet killer after a planet is destroyed. Three Aurelians warriors, Adrihan, Ryder and Xzavic are assigned to her task-force. They have different views on women and Sandra is determined that they follow her lead. When they are stranded on planet, their roles are changed and they bonded. Each of them have to overcome something to make their bond complete. Will they get off the planet and destroyed Rav'nok before another planet is destroyed?

Sandra loves her job even when fate gives her three aliens who are going with her when she is on a mission to stop the evil alien for destroying even more planets.

The three aliens are not just aliens, they are a triad and they are good looking too. When they have a look at the place where the last planet was which was destroyed they get in trouble and the end result is crashing down on an unknown planet. There Sandra finds out she can not only resist the three men, but is also their bonded mate. No way she wants to be that, but in the mean time the moments together with all three of them, pfff so hot!

They have to fight on this planet and show what they can do.

Next they go on with their mission and there is no time to think about being a bonded mate.

Will they get to the evil alien on time? And what happens when they have time to discover what they want with the four of them?

For that you have to read the book. You won't regret it when you are into hot aliens, the way they take care of their woman, action and a strong woman

Mated to the Alien Warriors

Corin Cain has again managed to write an amazing story. It has everything that a reader of this genre needs and wants. It seems to be the end of this series but I do hope that she will be writing more of this type. She has a way with words that makes it seem as if you're right there in the moment with the characters. What more can a reader ask for?

Raina Collins says

A new addition to the Aurelian alien series. To submit to them would mean becoming their slave to create their sons. That is all Sandra sees when she looks at the alien males. She is a high ranking officer in the Earth alliance and has no plans of ever giving that up. Especially for some alien males. But when put together with them they will hunt the villain that destroys planets. Will she let a bond decide her future? Lots of action and fighting. The scenes can get very hot but the dominance is actually pretty light in this one.

Margaux Espinosa says

I really liked this read, I'm always a bit skeptical when it comes to Alien romances but this had a great story. It was action packed, full of adventure, and full of steamy interludes in the midst of war, battle, being stranded on an unknown planet and survival. The world building was very well done (especially when you take into account how difficult coming up with alien plants must've been). Also the characters were easy to like and the female MC had a good head on her shoulders. Sandra wasn't going to bow down to anyone and had zero intentions on compromising her goals, aspirations or career for anything or anyone. Bond be damned! I did not read the previous books in this world but found it unnecessary to have done so to enjoy this story. Overall this was a thoroughly entertaining read.

Received copy in return for honest review, all opinions are my own and I was not compensated for this review

Wow what a absolutely fantastic book this was to read. There were so many things i just loved about this story it will be hard to list them all.. First off all i found that it was great to finally come across a great story that had more than 15 chapters in it. It gave the story more body, more detail, so that in itself was a plus for me.

I also loved the story as it had action throughout the whole book and it introduced a whole different type of Aurelians (exciting i tell you).

As for the Characters, i loved all three of the men they may be a triad but they each know each others emotions. Oh and i cant let the fact that they are tall and they certainly know how to please a women. As for Sandra im glad her character had a submissive side, for myself im not a fan of a total controlling women. This Author has really done a fabulous job. Thank you.

Sandra Bellinks has been put in command of finding Ravnok, he has just destroyed an entire planet. With the new relations between the Aurelians and humans she must work with triad. Adrihan, Ryder, Xzavic. These four must work together to overcome the dangers that they face.

~ Chasing the Planet Killer ~

Inspector Sandra Bellinks gets exactly what she expects when she meets the triad of freshly graduated Aurelian Agents, Adrihan, Ryder, and Xzavic, the team she was ordered work with, as Sandra is granted the huge boon to be in charge of the most prestigious case her superior has even given her: hunting down Rav'nok, the "Planet Killer." She has no choice but to work with these three hulking, arrogant aliens to capture the one responsible for the recent utter destruction of the planet Caladin and its eight billion inhabitants.

The three experienced but young Agents were of one single mind: hunt down and kill Rav'nok. There was a very personal reason for one of them, one which kept Sandra from him at arm's length. But once they realized what a fierce humanoid Sandra was, and that she strengthened them all in more ways than one, there was nothing left to do but to risk their all going forward with their plan in what will turn out to be the most dangerous quest of their lives.

A really well-written & steamy story, which flowed from the beginning. Enjoyed the possibilities of the satellite Aurelians they encounter on their adventure as well as the world this author created. Looking forward to reading more stories!

Sandra just wanted to be the best. And she gets the assignment that could get her to where she wanted . But the downside is she would have to work with the aliens.. and three of them. But shes in charge so stuff em.. but things dont go as plan for her but she sure gets to go an a wild ride. Love this authors work. Another cant put it down book.

This is an action-packed romance that I couldn't put down. Sandra asked for lower rank Aurelians, but even that might be too much to handle. She gets three hunky aliens who have no intention of letting her have the lead. Their interactions are steamy, their romance is touching, and the action going on around them is intense. In short, it has everything I love about this genre and I can't wait for more.
