Narrated by Stella Bloom and Jonathan Ash

There was a reason I was handcuffed to the bed, chocolate syrup smeared over both nipples. Dario Capece was getting married, and if he thought he'd ditch me to marry some rich Vegas bitch, then he had another thing coming.

I was taking my revenge in the best way possible: his best friend. Seduction was a new game for me, but thankfully, Trip Reinet was good at reading signs and delivering orgasms. While a hurricane gathered force and moved closer, I played a risky game of love, luck and sex, with my most valuable possession up for grabs: my heart.

I enjoyed this novella for the most part. The setting was unclear for me - it felt like it was supposed to be Vegas (especially considering the reference to the "Vegas bitch"), but a hurricane seems unlikely in Vegas, so maybe Atlantic City? But I liked the idea of being in a casino with an impending hurricane and the heroine using this moment to strike for a crazy sexual relationship.

I liked the characters, at least enough that I would like to see more of them and get to know them better. I think the heroine has a decent amount of spunk, which I like. I don't love that the only reason she's going after the hero is that his best friend, Dario, rejected her and is getting with the "Vegas Bitch." I also felt like there was an underlying story in the hero that I'd like to know better. I mean, on the surface I don't like that he has been interested in her for years and called his friend off of her, but never pursued her. But I think there was some hints that they have a history and that they've come from harder economic situations, potentially together.

Ultimately, this story had a lot of potential in the characters and setting but wasn't fully realized. There just needed more. And I know it was a novella written just for the Read Me Romance Podcast, but some of those episodes were unusually short too. One day was only 6 minutes. So my disappointment was that room for more, even in a novella and I would have liked some more character depth.

The podcast itself was fun, though it's always less fun when it's just one person hosting. I know they do it that way because Tessa Bailey is a solo author, whereas Alexa Riley is two people (Lea and Mel). But I would prefer if they rotated, so that there's always at least two of them. Their conversations are always great and I think it would just be so much more fun if there was always a conversation going on. But I still really enjoyed Tessa this week :)

Read Me Romance podcast

This was my first story from Alesandra Torre. I hate giving lower than average reviews, but this book was just meh, to me. I didn't care for either MCs, nor did I feel any chemistry. She uses H's friend to get into closer proximity to him and get even with her ex. (H's best friend) He screws around with countless women yet turns around and professes his love for her, that's it's always been her. Really?

Since this is a short story and I know it's tough to create a solid story, I will still give one of AT's full novels a chance.

3.5 stars. This book was another audiobook through the Read Me Romance podcast. This story is a casino boss/employee story. I liked this book. I wanted more and to know where the couple went from the end of the story. But I still enjoyed this book. This was a good listen!

Whew!
Heart pounding HOTNESS!!!!

Lisa says

This was so amazing! There was a ton of hotness packed in a small amount of time. I love Read Me Romance and now I've found a new author that I've already downloaded two more of her books. In Rolling the Dice, we are in the midst of a hurricane. The H and h are tucked away in one of the strongest buildings in town. As the storm rages, so does the passion between them. He is the rich, successful boss that everyone is afraid of. She has always thought he hated her because he's always been an asshole to her. But secretly, he has been smitten all this time with her. The narrators were top notch. I couldn't have asked for better.

This story was far too short!! I will be diving into the duet that it is spun off from just to get more of this couple (hopefully). In this story we meet Stephanie and Trip in a casino during a hurricane. Trip has had his eye on Stephanie since she started working at the casino; however, Stephanie had her eye on someone else. When Stephanie is turned down by her crush she decides to get a little revenge by enticing Trip. This was a super sexy, fun story that leaves you wanting more!!

This specific video review will be included in the January 2019 wrap-up.

Audio read via Read Me Romance

The great thing about RMR is that it's free and it gives you opportunities to try new to you authors. Sometimes you find a new favorite and sometimes it's confirmed that an author just isn't for you. AT falls in the latter category for me...

I didn't particularly like either MC. The H has wanted the h for years but never made a move and continued to fuck OW. He never made a move because...we'll, just because. He flat out told her that everything they did together he had done with OW but then referred to the h as "his heart" and "his forever" ?

Heroine, only looked at and came on to the H because she wanted revenge in his best friend and thought by sleeping with him that it would hurt the best friend - who btw - didn't fucking care....

Not a romance IMO by any means and just solidified AT as a no go for me...

Wow, this one started off smoking hot!!! Like 4 alarm fire. But I didn't doubt that with this author. This isn't my first read.

It was almost a 5 star read for me. I had a few minor issues.

One there were a few editing issues. The first with the audio itself. In the middle of a sentence another sentence played over it and it felt like I missed something in between. Then again, when she shows up at his place. The next moment they are playing cards with no transition. Either the audio messed up, or there wasn't a good transition between scenes. Either way, I felt like I lost parts of the story.

The second is with him. At first he says internally that he waited three years for her. Then in another he says six. That's a huge difference. And I wanted to know which was right.

But the final thing was the hurricane. I found it hard to believe a woman wouldn't evacuate a hurricane simply to seduce a man she's not sure she could get as an act of revenge. She could have waited to seduce. Sex or your life???? IDK. Doesn't seem believable. There were other ways to get them together alone in a plausible way.

However, this story does have me interested in reading Even Money. So I'll probably pick that up.
