Love Vs Destiny . . .the strange game of life! Atul Purohit

“Love Vs Destiny...the strange game of life!” is the fictionalized memoir of the author’s own love-story, a debut novel by Atul Purohit. www.facebook.com/LoveVsDestiny

A story full of dreams, love, destiny, confession, vengeance or say something beyond love....

Unlike sadness and happiness, LUCK ain't a feeling. It's just a notion. An unstable notion. A moment of sadness can never become a happy memory, and a moment of happiness can never become a sad memory. But that's not the case with luck – a moment of bad luck might eventually become a good memory for you, because YOU NEVER KNOW WHEN A BAD LUCK IS SAVING YOU FROM SOMETHING WORSE.

Confusingly amorous Aryan, a guy besotted with daydreaming.

Super snobby Tanvi, an ardent crush of Aryan.

Sublimely angelic Parina, Tanvi's sister who loves Aryan.

And the bad...bad boy Varun, the secret lover of Parina.

Giggly desires and deeds of adolescence.

Strokes of Jealousy and Dire storms of Society.

Confidential phone calls.

Smiles and Tears. Loneliness and Companionship. Despairs and Hopes.

And over and over again, THE STRANGE GAME OF LIFE...

...remember after every autumn, the flora senses the rapturous kiss of cheerful spring.

“Ingenious, honest and refreshing. Redolent of sweet adolescence, and a touching tale!” - Youth24x7.com

About Author :

Atul Purohit (Born 21st April, 1991). He was born and brought up at Ahmedabad. He had completed his B.tech in Electronics & Communication Engineering from Rajasthan Technical University, Kota. Where he had first time tried his hands in writing world before that he never felt that he can write. He went on to satisfy his writings and penned down his own love story. After his stint in writing a novel for his beloved one, he followed his inner voice and entered the IT world where he is working for a leading IT company in Ahmedabad as a PHP developer trainee. He strongly believes in entertainment, activism and knowledge. He is also a prolific Blogger, Ethical hacker. He loves playing Snooker & Volleyball.

He is a voracious reader of tragic love stories, who enjoys sobbing while listening to music in the pain of his lonesomeness, and also loves observing people, dreaming, shopping, surfing over the net, and hanging out with his friends.

What he has to say about his debut novel? "Well, as far as 'Love Vs Destiny... the strange game of life!' goes, I had a story to tell which was based on my own fictionalized memoir and I had to just tell it. I hope that more stories come to me and I have more to offer. The novel touches the sensitive issue of hard luck over the fascinations towards the first few sweet crushes and infatuations in our lives and moreover it deals with the true love and trust."

Preethi Venugopala says

Often books give insight into the personality of the author, as unconsciously every author puts a part of him/her into the book. But what if the book is a fictionalised memoir of the author’s life? It becomes more interesting. Because the truth is often stranger than fiction.

Atul Purohit pens down his own love story in an endearing manner. There are no heavy words to grab your attention, no grandiose metaphors or anything to show off verbosity of the author. It is written from the heart and hence touches the reader’s heart. Through the pages, you read about the various stages in the life of the young boy Aryan. From the darkness of his childhood when he studied at a boarding away from home to the pleasant love affair that he develops with a girl in his neighbourhood, everything is told in a language that is simple yet it keeps you turning pages.
