This is my favourite of the series so far. I really like how the characters develop and the story gets better and better.

There's a new mean girl on board, and the intrigue and sabotage attempts continue. This could get old in book 6 of the series, but Maggie Dana manages to come up with new and fresh story lines, that keep this series going and improving. Can't wait to read #7.

Barbara Morgenroth says

Lots of action and intriguing characters encourage you to keep reading to discover what happens. Does Kate choose Nathan over Brad? Does she thwart Angela and make the team? Does someone throw a bucket of water on Mrs Dean and she melts? Well written and the equine information is spot on.

This was my first 'taste' of Maggie Dana's writing, but it won't be my last. I absolutely loved Almost Perfect, as it appealed to that somewhat horse-mad, teenage girl I myself used to be. The way in which Angela is both bullied and a bully was really true to real-life. The horses were fantastic, and the small snippets of horse-knowledge weren't made up, and sounded more like the author herself knows horses, and all those other little smart things! The commentary on the dressage side of things was just as amazing - I could almost see the movements of the horses!

Girls will gobble this one up! Author Maggie Dana seamlessly picks up the storyline between friends Holly and Kate, who are having a bit of a tiff when this novel begins. But best friends prevail, and with glitter, good times, learning about boys, and lots and lots of horse details, Ms. Dana serves up another winner in this series. Switching gracefully back and forth between both Holly and Kate allows us to know each of them well, and while their old rival Angela once again appears in this novel, the author always manages to keep the stories fresh and relevant while weaving in enough back story so that each novel in this series can stand alone. This one in particular focuses on both Kate's and Holly's horses: Tapestry and Magician, with a great switcheroo in the plotline. Wonderful stuff - like candy to horse lovers!
