Murder and Marinade Tegan Maher

Noelle and crew take some much-needed time off for a little fun, fried foods, and barbecue, but she should know by now that nothing's that easy. When the main judge at the competition turns up murdered with a barbecue fork, it seems everybody's a suspect, including Bobbie Sue and Earl. Meat's not the only thing being grilled as they look more and more like the prime suspects.

That's not all that's afoot, either. Somebody's stealing secret recipes and seeking to sabotage the entire competition, and trouble arises at home.

They came for the food and the trophy, but they may end up staying for the amenities at the iron-bar hotel.

Debbie says

I'm having more and more trouble with this series. What I need in one of these paranormal cozies is a community that makes me feel like I want to be one of them. I want to be her...I want to live there... For some reason, I don't get that from this series. I think the problem might be simply that I can't relate to the main characters. I don't understand people who have horses when they don't have time to spend with them. I find it not particularly credible that a woman suddenly developed a thriving business retrofitting junk. This just doesn't chime with me. Having said that, I didn't predict the culmination to the whodunit. Perhaps the pieces weren't presented to us or perhaps they were; I'm not judging. The MC doesn't behave stupidly, at least, in her search for answers, so I give the author credit for not falling into that pit of doom.

I don't know if I'll bother with continuing on with the series. I want to like it, but it's just not really "it" for me.

Another great book from Tegan Maher!! I really enjoyed each book and I care for all the characters, family, friends, animals, and ghosts. These books are very entertaining and keeps me guessing until the very end. If you like a great mystery with great characters and ones that keeps you turning the pages this book and series is for you.

It isn't likely that the Flynn witches will get a break when it comes to magic and murder. For Noelle, Reanne and Shelby; things seem to be getting complicated as they maneuver their way into their magical abilities. It's become obvious that there is still so much more to it all, so much more that even Aunt Abby and Aunt Beth may not be able to help.

The Barbecue Competition and Craft fair should have been a most rewarding experience for them all. Regrettably, murder seems to be the main course. And it seems that Earl and Bobbie Sue are quickly put at the top of the murder list menu.

Even through the choas, friendships will be made, pastries will be baked, barbecue will be served and murderers will be brought to justice, with a heaping helping of magic on the side.

I enjoy the humor, the shenanigans, and the quirky characters in this series. Ghosts are an intricate part of the community. This mystery is staged in an entirely new setting with some unsavory characters.

I'm looking forward to reading the rest of the series to get to know the lovable characters better and to discover what happens with this eclectic group. The depth of atrocious deceit and ruthlessness of the former sheriff makes me appreciate my peaceful and tranquil lifestyle very much indeed.

I was excited to find that Books 1-7 of the full-length books in this series are available through Kindle unlimited. I was disappointed to discover that the short story 'fill'in's' are NOT available through Kindle unlimited, which means there is a small charge for a book of fewer than 50 pages. I did not read the 4.5 and at first felt somewhat confused, but I did not feel that I missed that much, since there was a summary about it mentioned in this book.

This is a clean read that is able to stand on its own. However, it most definitely makes more sense if you read the entire series in the order they were written.

This book concludes with an H.E.A., but the next book in the series is sure to include another murder mystery that needs to be solved.

Spunky murder mystery

I love this series because of all the unique characters. The mystery is well written but the character development is what keeps me thoroughly entertained. I haven't the short stories but I plan to. Noelle and her merry band of misfits are awesome.

Cooking and murder

This was really good. Really well written characters are growing more and developing. The story line was really good and had several small sub plots running through too.

I was lucky enough to find this author just as she published her first book in this series - and I am so glad I did. This series is just so much fun to read - humorous, magical in a realistic kind of way, likeable characters, family oriented, small town atmosphere - all the things I like to read in my cozies. I know when I see a new release that I am in for an entertaining read every time. The majority of this book is set against the backdrop of a craft fair and festival - with the author's descriptive writing style, I could almost taste the funnel cakes and lemonade and smell the BBQ wafting from my Kindle! Noelle is attending the fair to sell her hand-made repurposed furniture from her store Reimagined and her fellow townfolks Bobbie Sue and Earl are there for the BBQ competition. However, it all goes horribly wrong when a crooked judge is discovered skewered in the back with a BBQ fork. Add in the theft of several proprietary recipes and there are plenty of suspects to choose from for the killing. The author's sense of humor is always present and I always giggle several times while reading one of her stories! I would highly recommend this series for cozy fans.

Noelle and Hunter, Anna Mae, Earl, Bobbie Sue and Justin are all camping out at a fair for the weekend. Noelle and Anna Mae have a booth and Earl and Bobbie Sue have their BBQ stand along with Earl competing in the adult categories and Justin in the junior division. Everyone is having a great time until someone is murdered. Then meat and beans are stolen from a few competitors and someone has managed to get copies of their recipes and sold them on the internet. Earl ends up as a suspect but there's nothing solid and the fair goes on. Another man that apparently bought one of the recipes ends up murdered too. Hunter helps the sheriff what little he can and Noelle and friends do some digging. The climax is scary awesome when the killer is finally caught. It's another great cozy by Tegan Maher. The usual fun, laughs, magic and ghosts and so well written. I picked this to read to give myself a pick me up and it totally worked. I highly recommend this book.

An excellent series

Great characters, friendly town including the ghosts, yes there's the odd murder but it's nearly always an outsider so it doesn't worry people much and you have the members of the Flynn family all very talented witches who don't mind getting involved and helping work out who the murderer is. After all in a tourist town murder is bad for buisness.

Yeah!

Every book is so entertaining. This one included. We discover a new gift, solve another two connected murders, a little guy get a prize, new friends are made. It's all told in a fun, casual way. No sexy times revealed, just an enduring relationship developing. Now for book 6

A fair to murder

Noelle is at a county fair, with Hunter, to sell her product from new store plus it is a BBQ competition and Bobbie Sue, Earl, and Justin were there as well. Of course, a murder takes place and puts people in the line of fire that Noelle loves. With some unexplained happenings and surprise people showing up you will enjoy this story.

Surreal says

OK, so is cooking really a life or death situation? Apparently so, in Noelle & Co's world. And, is it just me, or Justin a little cutie! Each book adds to what we know of life in Keyhole Lake, and I anticipate every new tale, and regret finishing each one. Another cracking read!

Another AWESOME READ!!

A County Fair and a murder!! Can our favorite Witch and her favorite Sheriff find out, who done it? Wonders abound over who stabbed, the much disliked Judge of the BBQ cookout at the fair. Was it disgruntled losers? Guess, you'll have to read this book to find out...lol Me? I'm off to read the next book!!
