Someone to Love Me Francis Ray

Nine years ago, Michelle Grant was at rock bottom--until a chance meeting with a stranger gave her hope...and her first delicious taste of passion. Now a successful businesswoman, Michelle still remembers the man she knew only as B.J.. And when fate brings them together again, the feelings she had for him come rushing back. But as soon as Brad Jamison speaks, Michelle realizes that the caring man she once knew is now a hardened businessman without warmth or tenderness, and he doesn't remember her...

Brad has heard the rumors that Michelle's success may be due more to her looks than her brain--but he doesn't believe them. He knows how hard it can be for a black woman to get ahead in business. Indeed, when Brad finally meets Michelle, her head for business impressed him--while her almond skin and smooth curves send his mind reeling. She seems so sweet...even familiar. But if he discovers the shared past that only she remembers, will it tear them apart forever?

Ray Does It Again

Whether a full-blown novel or a slot story, her storyline and character development is very good. I can't believe the consistency of her works!

Tigger says

If you enjoy Francis Ray, this is another must read!

Had to read it again, excellent!

Michele Godwin says

Cindy is a ninth grader who doesn't feel like she fits in at her new high school. Her mother, busy with a job and a new boyfriend, don't seem to care if she goes to school or not. She finds companionship in a cute boy who gives her attention, something she desperately wants now that her mom is never around. The boy turns out to be bad news, though, and Cindy AND her mom have to find out what's truly important to them. I can see girls liking this book, not only for the romantic aspect but because they might relate to the challenging mother-daughter relationship we see here. Cindy learns from her mistakes and finds out what it means to be an independent young woman.

Cf says

Quick read. I guess this is one of her earlier books, I found the story simple, low drama but decent.

Chineka Williams says

I enjoyed reading this book. It was full of romance with good character development.

Bethany says

Starts off really slow.

Tracy says

This book dragged on; very predictable. Should have been a short story.

Ashley Lane says

This is, in my opinion, the all-time greatest romance book I have ever read & owned. Very good book.

Rise says

This story was good, however it sad that in order for a person to point out that they love someone and that they are not asking for anything even though they are having your child and the man doesn't want to be with them that something drastic has to happen to you in order for the person to really come to his/her senses which really would be men to realize that they are in love with you after all. Although I do understand what Brad went through as a child with his own mom and dad he still kept his heart closed for fear of the same thing happening in a true relationship. Now I have to go back to read Fallen angel and I hope this is not really the same book.

Past, Present & Future

Francis Ray has done it again! This book was excellent! She has crafted another well written story, complete with strong characters, an engaging and entertaining storyline, and of course, sizzling passion! Michelle Grant was heart broken nine years ago when she found out her boyfriend was using her to get close to her successful brother, then she meets a stranger that gives her hope. Now a successful realtor she comes face to face with the stranger that saved her life. The one difference is he's not the same caring man she meet on the beach that night nine years ago. Brad Jamison is hard as nails, a take no prisoners kind of business man. They begin a fairytale romance but soon trouble erupts. Can they fix the problems their faced with, or will they be doomed forever? A great book. I read it in one day. I'm sure anyone who buys this book will not be disappointed.

Suzette says

My favorite Ms. Ray book!

Michelle Crawford says

It wasn't my favorite by Ms. Ray but it was still good. I think I've read too many of her books recently that the stories are kind of blending. This story in particular was very similar to a few of her other novels so it wasn't really new and exciting.

Gay Harris says

You can never go wrong with a Francis Ray novel!

Bianca says

This is one of my favorite books!!! absolutely loved it! <3

someone to love me (Fallen Angel) by Francis Ray

Michelle knows her real estate and can win the big ones for the company. She is hurt that her brother is in a wheelchair now.

Brad Jamison is one from her past and he's back in her life again, wanting to relocate his business from the west coast to Texas.

She has just the land for him and shows him-she then finds out that he does remember her from their past lives. Brad doesn't remember if she's the one he had saved 9 years ago.

She had made her way to the top and bought her way in, not by going to bed with the presidents of the companies.

Foundation for the rehab center is not going as planned, the seller wants more money.

She follows him to the west coast on his private jet where they spend a lot of time getting to know one another.

When she finds out he wants the ranch things explode and then health issues come into play also.

Maybe This Time by Francis Ray

A short story about how a wife and husband deal with a child's illness and that he just needs love to get over the illness.
