This book is a prologue to High Stakes Gamble. You have to pay .99 for 12 chapters. I got it for free. For free I'd read it, but only 12 chapters? I wouldn't pay for it.

This book follows the action of Aurora, a Las Vegas police detective. The series is most excellent.

Author needs a new proof reader. I noticed a lot of mistakes, but not enough so I couldn't enjoy the book.

Dorel says

In this book the story line is really good but sad. The sad parts in this story made my eyes water. I love Aurora's bravery & toughness. I thought Aurora treated Lisa wrong. The ending really surprised me. This was a really good short story to read.

Peggy Twigg says

A great, but short 3rd book in this series!! Since Aurora turned the table on Kai and took the law into her own hands because of a signal from Debbie, Kai is missing in action(so to speak). He told Aurora he needs time. Aurora gets really frustrated that Kai isn't with her. She calls him up and lets him know how frustrated she is. Then Cory tells her about her new partner, Lisa. At first, Lisa is too annoying and talkative for Aurora's likings. But, Aurora changes her tune after they go on calls together. When the local casino has a bothersome pick pocket that they can't nab, Aurora goes undercover to nail them. That's where she meets up with Jeff Waters, who takes a liking to her. Find out what happens when Jeff lets Aurora know that he's taken a liking to her. I would recommend not only this book, but the series, to everyone who likes crime, cops, action and romance. The author continues to draw you into the book, the same as the other books in this series. She also, continues with the smoothness of the story line. I like suspense and romance, and this series has my attention!

Jo-Ann Murphy says

This was another short story, not a real book. If combined with the High Stakes Gamble book, it would have been a pretty good novel.

Christine says

Sad this was so short- I need more! Aurora sure knows how to turn her magnetic charm on. She wants/needs Kai but instead finds Jeff sniffing around. A new partner Lisa, who is on her short list of likable people.

Dealing with her actions in the Rhondo case, Kai leaving, Lisa, Jeff- what will be Aurora's next move and will it be alone?
